About the ACL

The Association for Computational Linguistics is THE international scientific and professional society for people working on problems involving natural language and computation. Membership includes the ACL quarterly journal, Computational Linguistics, reduced registration at most ACL-sponsored conferences, discounts on ACL-sponsored publications, and participation in ACL Special Interest Groups.

ACL Exec 2014

The ACL journal, Computational Linguistics, continues to be the primary forum for research on computational linguistics and natural language processing. Since 1988, the journal has been published for the ACL by MIT Press to provide a broader distributional base. More about the journal (submission and review forms) .

An annual meeting is held each summer in locations where significant computational linguistics research is carried out.

Regional associations related to the ACL include:
- EACL : The European Chapter of the ACL
- NAACL : The North American Chapter of the ACL

Your Current Executive committee is:

Past President (2014) Haifeng Wang Baidu, Inc. China

President (2014) Gertjan van Noord University of Groningenthe Netherlands Vice-president (2014)Chris ManningStanford UniversityUSA Vice-President-elect (2014) Pushpak BhattacharyyaIIT BombayIndia

Treasurer (2013-2017) Graeme Hirst Computer Science University of TorontoCanada

Secretary (2011-2015) Dragomir R. Radev University of Michigan USA secretary@org.aclweb (unscramble me)

NAACL chair (ex officio) Hal Daumé IIIUniversity of MarylandUSA

EACL chair (ex officio)Stephen ClarkComputer LaboratoryUniversity of CambridgeUnited Kingdom At-large (2012-2014) Jian Su Institute for Infocomm Research Singapore

At-large (2013-2015) Min Yen Kan National University of Singapore Singapore At-large (2014-2016)Hermann NeyRWTH AachenGermany

Journal editor (ex officio) Paola Merlo University of Geneva Switzerland

Business Manager Priscilla Rasmussen Association for Computational Linguistics (ACL) acl@org.aclweb (unscramble me)

Nominating Committee

Kevin Knight (2012-2014) Information Sciences Institute University of Southern California USA

Ken Church (2013-2015)IBMUSA Haifeng Wang (2014-2016)BaiduChina